

I write this letter with the sole purpose of sharing how David Kohout's ministry, Talk is Cheap, Inc., blessed our students.

We had Mr. Kohout share at 6 different student gatherings, including with our private school students and during our weekend services. Mr. Kohout shows great passion, conviction and creativity while sharing his life story, which is drenched in God's grace. One of the most valuable and encouraging aspects of his expositions is his transparency and vulnerability, which certainly leads to connection. We noticed students approaching him after each talk, and David was not only graceful, but genuinely interested in each of their stories.

In addition to his platform work in itself, David showed great respect for church authority and timeframes. We appreciated his willingness and availability, in spite of the hard rhythm we set for him (finished Saturday at about 9 pm and was up and ready at 7 am on Sunday). I am, quite sure our students will remember his warm and fun stories and their souls will benefit from every eternal truth that was laid out before them.

He is a servant leader and a passionate advocate for every young person's worth. He loves Jesus because evidently, Jesus has loved him on his worse days. Kids appreciate a truthful grown up. We look forward to having him again and urge you to include him in your near future plans.

Best regards
